Product Replacement Notification – D-Guard Gas Detector

Thank you for your interest in the GasTech D-Guard gas transmitter. This gas detector has made up a major part of GasTech's range of gas detection equipment for several years with great success.

As part of GasTech's commitment to continual improvement this product is now being replaced by a more refined version with more features. Conveniently the D-Guard² (the D-Guard's successor) has the same rear housing dimensions with equivalent wiring gland and 4-20mA output allowing for a smooth and efficient change out.

With equivalent pricing of the D-Guard the D-Guard² will provide exceptional value across all areas. The official launch of the D-Guard² will take place mid-September 2015. Orders received for the D-Guard will be supplied with the D-Guard² instead. Until then for specific information on the D-Guard² please contact your Technical Consultant.

Regards

GasTech Australia
